

Gregg M. Herman

Managing Partner

Gregg Herman is a strategic thinker, a gifted advocate, and a warm “people person”—qualities that serve his clients well. Gregg Herman focuses his practice on divorce cases involving the protection, valuation, and distribution of significant assets or business interests, as well as other family law matters.

“Practicing family law is emotionally satisfying for me,” says Milwaukee’s top Family Law Attorney. “I much prefer the personal connection that comes with protecting the rights of my clients and their families to the impersonal process of representing corporations. People rely on me to guide them and safeguard their interests during one of the most challenging times of their lives, and that is exactly what I do.”

Gregg Herman knows what he is talking about. “My clients are real people leading active lives with so much riding on the outcome of their cases. I don’t forget that,” Gregg Herman insists. “Their concerns are my concerns. Their stress is my stress. Their worries are my worries. Whether I am at the negotiating table or in the courtroom, I am always ready to resolve the case in the best interest of the people I represent.”

“You wake up a little earlier than the other guy. You work a little later. And you make sure you’ve done everything you can. That’s what family law is all about.”

AREAS OF PRACTICE

- Divorce
- Complex divorce (cases involving business interests, complex financial issues, or asset values of $1 million or more)
- Child Custody & Visitation
- Child Support & Modification
- Property Division
- Spousal Support
- Paternity
- Grandparents rights
- Partition & Cohabitation
- Complex Valuations

While he focuses largely on complex divorce and U.S. family law cases, Gregg is also one of a select few family law attorneys whose practice common situations involving complex valuations including inherited wealth, a family-owned business that has been handed down from generation to generation, where one party earns a significant amount of money, a large stock portfolio and any other situation where assets are difficult to quantify or are substantial.

In some circumstances, one party may own assets that are not liquid, such as stock options or an ownership interest in a business that can not be sold. In these situations, the division of property can depend largely upon the skill and experience of your attorney, which is where Gregg’s 30 + years of law experience comes into play.
